

Member / guest Information and Mutual commitment to attend regularly and maintain confidentiality

Core to the success of MD2MD is the mutual respect of members for each other and the mutual commitment of members to support each other and the MD2MD process.

MD2MD commits to:

1. Arrange meetings. Arrange and make available to the business leader as a member of the group a series of professional development events as defined in the relevant current schedule.
2. Confidentiality. Maintain and promote absolute confidentiality of all group proceedings.
3. Being there for you. Be reasonably available by phone as a sounding board when the member faces critical business decisions. To further support the successful development of the member and the company through whatever means are separately agreed.
4. Mutual Promotion. To promote the success of the member and their business where appropriate, including through personal contact and through description and links on the MD2MD website.

The member on behalf of the company commits to:

5. Attend meetings. Your fellow members value your attendance and lose out when you are absent.
6. Confidentiality. Maintain absolute confidentiality of all group proceedings, following the Chatham House rules, declaring any conflict of interest and not using to the disadvantage of other members any advice, information and insights shared.
7. Taking responsibility. Consider the input of MD2MD, speakers and fellow members whilst recognising that full responsibility for any decisions and actions remain with the member.
8. Sharing information. MD2MD holds information about them for the purposes of managing their membership and uses non confidential elements of that information for promotion..
9. Mutual promotion. To promote other members when appropriate. To promote MD2MD when appropriate. For example by introducing MD2MD to contacts when appropriate, and by agreeing appropriate references, quotes and case studies.
